

Web Designer (Volunteer)

Who We Are

Human Rights Research Center (HRRC) is an established nonprofit that brings a multidisciplinary approach to human rights and seeks to bridge the gap between academic research and the wider public. We educate through facts, advocate using our research findings, and take action to implement change.

Who You Are

We're seeking a creative, detail-oriented, and mission-driven Volunteer Web Designer to support HRRC's digital presence and accessibility efforts. This role is critical to ensuring our research and advocacy work are presented in an engaging, professional, and user-friendly manner. The ideal candidate is passionate about human rights, skilled in visual storytelling, and comfortable translating complex mission-driven work into compelling digital experiences.

What You'll Do

- Design and refine website layouts and user interfaces to enhance the visual appeal and functionality of HRRC's digital platforms.
- Create wireframes, prototypes, and high-fidelity mock-ups for new site features or landing pages.
- Collaborate with leadership and program staff to gather necessary information and visual assets for web projects.
- Tailor designs to meet accessibility standards and ensure a seamless experience across mobile and desktop devices.
- Maintain organized records of design assets, brand guidelines, and project versions.
- Collaborate with technical volunteers to ensure designs are implemented accurately and efficiently.

Qualifications

- Strong visual design, layout, and typography skills with the ability to convey complex ideas clearly and aesthetically.
- At least one year of experience in web design, UI/UX design, or a related creative field (professional, academic, or volunteer).
- Demonstrated interest in human rights, social justice, or nonprofit work.
- Excellent attention to detail and ability to meet project deadlines.
- Ability to work independently while collaborating effectively with a remote team.
- Proficiency in design tools such as Figma, Adobe Creative Suite, or Sketch.
- Familiarity with Google Suite and collaborative tools such as Slack preferred.
- Degree or coursework in Graphic Design, Web Design, Communications, or a related field is preferred.
